

STYLISH LOVES

BOOK WORTH A LOOK

We'd normally warn you, with a novel as suspenseful as this, that you might end up missing appointments and the like. But right now? Well, there's no need to put it down anyway... In People Like Her, the debut thriller by husband-and-wife writing team Emery Lloyd, we follow mumfluencer Emmy, whose Insta-curated life isn't as perfect as she likes her followers to believe. And someone knows she has a terrible secret... A whip-smart look at the dark side of social media. Out now

NEW-NORMAL TREND: DIGI THEATRE

Sure, the list of Things We Miss is long – but featuring on it for lots of us is live theatre. That's why we're loving the new trend for online plays – not dusty recordings from before times, oh no; new plays, offering as close to an in-the-stalls experience as possible. Bush Theatre's acclaimed Overflow, starring transgender actress Reece Lyons (below) streams from 18-23 Jan (bushtheatre.co.uk); while immersive theatre fans should try interactive espionage thriller Spymaster (morpheus-show.co.uk). Bravo!

Memorable indeed. Forget-Me-Not earrings, £79,

A seven-night ski trip to Chamonix – valid for 12 months

Ah, swooping down snowy pistes, clear blue skies and alpine ridges as a backdrop... Seems a distant dream right now – but one lucky Telegraph subscriber and a guest can make it a reality in 2021. Chamonix All Year and Eurotunnel are offering a week in an apartment with Mont Blanc views, plus return travel, lift passes, ski lessons and equipment hire. Talk about peak luxury!
